

Nottdance '05

There's no place like home...

29 April until 18 May 2005

Red Shoe Delivery Service

Over the Bank Holiday shoppers and tourists will be able to make use of The Red Shoe Delivery Service. An array of sparkly red shoes of all shapes and sizes are available for anyone wishing to be transported across town; the only stipulation being to don the shoes, click your heels and say 'There's no place like -----' the filling in your desired Nottingham location!

'GUTH CREATES EVERYTHING FROM SNEAKERS TO POINTY-TOES PRADA KNOCKOFFS... ONE WOMAN MEMORABLY ASKED FOR A LIFT TO TRUMP TOWER TO GET HER EYEBROS DONE.' TIME OUT, NEW YORK

Footage of each trip will be compiled into a beguiling Wizard of Oz-inspired short film to be shown at Show Room on Screen (see page 20) and in the Festival Shop.

The US artists' collective reconfigures the idea of Dorothy's Ruby Slippers in order to create interactive art experience while providing people with a practical service. Through this process Red Shoe Delivery Service seeks to give life to an idea that exists exclusively in the realm of fantasy, while addressing issues and strategies of mobility in an urban setting.